$3 million endowment announced at school

by Robert Kegel

S.U.'s fledgling endowment stands at approximately $4.2 million with the recent receipt of $3 million from the estate of Mrs. George Albers.

The gift fulfills the requirements of the anonymous $1 million challenge gift announced in February. In addition, the Alumni Association has raised $200,000 for endowment purposes.

THE MONEY, to be known as the Albers Memorial Fund, has been placed in trust, with the interest to be used by the University. In ten years, or if an additional $5 million in endowment should be raised, the principle will be made available.

Mrs. Albers, who died this March, was the widow of George Albers, co-founder and president of the Albers Brothers Milling Co. Albers, who the fund memorializes, died in 1937.

Robert D. O'Brien, chairman of the board of trustees, termed the gift "a turning point in the University's history" when he announced it to a special convocation yesterday.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY at the convocation were given a brief history of the school's financial difficulties. Problems began, said O'Brien, when the University began preparing for an enrollment of 5,000 that never materialized. A quicker reaction to the community college boom, O'Brien added, would have kept the University out of deficit spending.

Deficit spending came to an end in October of 1970 when the banks refused to loan the University more money and demanded repayment of loans already made. O'Brien said that after several days of negotiating, the banks agreed to extend the loans if the University balanced its budget.

The budget for the current fiscal year is balanced, said O'Brien. Furthermore, he added, the deficits of past years have been picked up.

O'BRIEN NOTED that Campion Tower, which he called surplus to the University's present and future needs, would be sold or leased at the earliest opportunity.

The Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.J., President of S.U., took the podium next. While calling for enthusiasm from the University community he cautioned against false optimism. The new endowment, he said, "does not in itself solve all our problems." Rather, he continued, it should serve as a catalyst to further action.

Fr. Gaffney announced that 150 students would enter a "problem oriented, interdisciplinary program next fall."

AT A PRESS CONFERENCE after the convocation, Fr. Gaffney told newsmen Mrs. Albers had originally intended the endowment money for a scholarship fund. When she learned of the University's financial difficulties she changed her will.

Further faculty cuts would not be made, said Fr. Gaffney, unless the student-faculty ratio goes above its present 15 to 1 level.

Ten new regents named; advisory body at 25

Ten business and civic leaders were added to S.U.'s Board of Regents last week, bringing the membership of that body to an all-time high of 25.

APPOINTED by the Very Rev. Louis Gaffney, S.J., University President, with approval of the Board of Trustees, the new regents come from five Washington communities and San Francisco.

Regents advise and assist the school in the area of development to search and coordinate all financial support to plan to achieve University goals and promote its image and to study the adequacy of plant facilities and use of University properties.

The new regents, including three women and seven men, are Genevieve Albers, daughter of the late Mrs. George Albers, whose bequest of $3 million to S.U. was announced yesterday; Carlos Flohr; Gordon W. Roessler, and Mrs. T. Evans Wyckoff, all of Seattle.

OTHER NEW regents are Ralph M. Davis and Eugene E. Lynn, both of Bellevue; Mrs. John E. Cunningham, Zenith, Wash.; Arthur J. Heisdorf, Redmond, Wash.; Rhoady R. Lee, Sr., Medina, Wash., and Eugene J. Brenner, San Francisco.

Ethnic cultural week opens today to provide 'interchange, sharing'

Ethnic Cultural Week 1972 begins today.

The festival is to create "an interchange of cultures and share what we (minority students) have—not just have activities for minority students," said Vivian Luna, Ethnic Week co-chairman.

THE COMBINATION spring Asian Week and Cultural day, postponed from homecoming, will open with a speech by Warren Furutani, former editor of the Gilda, an Asian-American newspaper in Los Angeles, a roving speaker on Asians along the West Coast and field director of Japanese-American Citizen's League (JACL). Furutani will speak on "The Emergence of the Asian-American" in Ban-nan auditorium at noon today.

There will also be a slide presentation on "Hawaii and its People: Today" in the Library Auditorium at 7 p.m.

Sponsors of Ethnic Week are S.U. Minority Students, the Pan-Asian Council, ASSU and Office of Minority Student Affairs who provided money and manpower to put on the scheduled activities.

MONEY CAME from the ASSU contingency fund which granted $300 last quarter for Asian Week and funds remaining for Cultural Day during homecoming which was cancelled due to the hospitalization of DaVerne Bell, chairman.

Tomorrow a cultural arts festival on the Library lawn at noon will feature karate, kung fu and judo exhibitions and explanation of self-defense tactics by Roger Tung, a blackbelt in karate and Jason Balinbin, both S.U. freshmen.

S.U.'s Hawaiian Club will perform the hula, tahitian and moarian during the three-hour presentation. Ethnic food will be served.

THURSDAY WILL be highlighted by "Evolution of a Leader," a film on the socio-political development of a leader in a Phillipine village. The film may be seen, free of charge, in the Library Auditorium at 7 p.m.

This Friday is Malcolm X's birthday. A soul-filled evening is planned, including a WDBS dance in the Chieftain.

Budgets

Senate weighs requests

Consideration was given to a third of the proposed ASSU budget allotments, to clubs who requested financial assistance, at the senate meeting last night.

Tim Flynn, ASSU treasurer, presented the allotments and the cuts that he and the financial board made on the budget requests of the clubs.

Senate discussion ended with Homecoming and will resume at a meeting Wednesday night at 7. There were no binding decisions made last night.

Year's final teacher evaluation due tomorrow; may be published

Tomorrow marks the date of the third and final faculty evaluation of the year.

Unlike its predecessors, the results of this evaluation have the possibility of being published. "The publication to the university community hinges on the favorability of faculty response," Pat Lupo, ASSU President, said.

SO FAR, there has been an overwhelming response by the faculty in favor of the planned publication, Lupo added.

Lupo stressed the urgent need for proctors to distribute the evaluations. Nine hundred hours have been put into the surveys to date, but the labor force is small. The proctors are needed to "insure uniform statistical analysis" of the data.

If the evaluation results are published, distribution will be limited. Each faculty member will receive a copy of his results. One copy will be given

Eberhart 'fascinated' by poetry; values suggestion, implication

by Margaret Enos
"The poet comes with his broken wing to teach them flight."
 Richard Eberhart

Last Thursday S.U. students and faculty were given "flight" as Richard Eberhart made selected readings of his poetry and gave explanations of its meanings.

HIS HOUR long presentation included such poems as "For a Lamb", "Hardening Into Print", "Illusion of Eternity", and "The Groundhog"—perhaps his most widely known poem.

Eberhart attributes "The Groundhog's" popularity to the fact that, "The little creature is an analogy of our bodies, our immortality."

"Everything about poetry fascinates me — I shudder at the thought of being known and remembered for only one poem," he stated.

DESCRIBED AS a "poet of moral dimensions," he insists that, "Poetry must come from some deep compulsion to evaluate one's progress through life or time and to state for others one's meanings."

Eberhart feels that poetry is, "... a world of suggestion — what is not said in a poem has a deep value to it. The implications reward the reader each in his own way."

He believes very much in the subjective world — the spiritual rather than the material side of life. He notes, "If we do not live by the spirit we will die by the flesh."

FOLLOWING THIS philosophy his poetry reflects his empathy, concern, and respect for the lives of others. These aspects are especially apparent in such poems as "The Fury of Aerial Bombardment", which notes the evils of war.

During World War II Eberhart wrote a total of 25 anti-war poems. He says, "Man's ability to kill his fellows, while claiming to be Christian has always bothered me." He continues,

"Perhaps the idea of Christianity is too high, perhaps man can never grasp it completely."

Yet Eberhart's optimism and faith in mankind are exemplified by his statement that, "I prophesy the end of war, the end of nationalism, and profit—when poetry will become the universal language of the soul and the soul becomes more important than the body."

DaVerne Bell home from hospital

DaVerne Bell, S.U. senior burned in a house fire last February, feels that she has "a lot stronger awareness of what people go through when they're suffering."

DaVerne left Harborview Medical Center three weeks ago. At present she feels "pretty good." Ahead of her is more surgery, probably at Cabrini Hospital, cared for by Fr. D Harvey McIntyre's doctor who has worked with burn patients before. Fr. McIntyre is pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church.

"I SHOULD be well by about September," she said. "You know it takes about six months for burns to heal."

Ethnic Week begins today. DaVerne says she's been "helping with suggestions and I'm all for it. I'd especially like the picnic to go well and I hope a lot of people show up."

From her ordeal, DaVerne says she has, "learned about people and things you didn't know before." Lenzy Stuart and Fr. James B. McGoldrick, S.J., have kept her informed about events around campus.

THIS SUMMER DaVerne plans to work on her core requirements by taking theology and physics. S.U. professors will tutor her at home.

Fr. Toulouse to be 'violence' panelist

Fr. Michael T. Toulouse, S.J., professor of philosophy, will be a panelist during the Washington Mental Health Association's day-long conference on "Violence in Our Society" at the Seattle Center today.

He will be discussing the topic "Television—The Home Instruction Course in Violence?" with Ancil Payne, president of KING Broadcasting; John Murray, a research coordinator on the Surgeon-General's Scientific Advisory Committee on TV and Social Behavior; and Nathaniel Wagner, professor of Psychology at the U.W.

THE DISCUSSION is scheduled for 12:15 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the Rainier Room.

"These mental health people make you out to be mad if you don't agree with them completely," Fr. Toulouse said.

He also mentioned that he really doesn't know that much about the panel, but that he will probably be used as a sort of "moralistic goad" for the affair.

Last day for senate, presidency sign ups-filing sparse so far

Sign-ups continue until 4:30 p.m. today for the four student senate seats and the three class presidencies which will be contested in this quarter's ASSU elections.

As of late Monday afternoon, sophomore class president was still without a candidate while one student had signed up for each of the other positions.

STUDENTS MAY also sign up for student-at-large representative to the Publications Board. Candidacies are being taken in the ASSU office, second floor or the Chieftain. Candidates must have a minimum of 2.20 gpa.

The primary election will be May 24 with the final on May 30.

Students interested in working on orientation may also sign up for that.

Questionnaire seeks input for education fund study

Students are being asked to participate in a comprehensive study of financing higher education in the State of Washington.

STUDENT INPUT is being gathered through the Student Resource Survey, a 72-item questionnaire which examines current methods students use to finance a higher education. The survey takes about 15 minutes to complete.

According to Ms. Mary Alice Lee, registrar, the survey has been disseminated to S.U. students through a random selection of departments. An additional stack of questionnaires is available at the registrar's office, second floor Pigott, for other students who wish to fill one out.

QUESTIONNAIRES should be completed and returned to the registrar tomorrow at the latest, Ms. Lee said.

The study has been undertaken by the Washington Council on Higher Education and involves several phases, from an examination of who is to pay and who benefits from post-secondary education to collection of data on educational financial resources.

The Council will base its recommendations for future funding of higher education on the results of this study. These recommendations will then be transmitted to the Washington State legislature.

Ms. Lee encouraged S.U. students to fill out and return the questionnaire to help ensure adequate input from private university students.

Bequest donor long interested in Jesuit work, daughter says

by Ann Standaert

Ms. Eva Albers became interested in S.U. through her association with the Jesuit fathers, Ms. Genevieve Albers, her daughter, said yesterday.

"SHE WAS one of the first contributors when the S.U. Guild was founded," Ms. Albers added.

The late Ms. Albers, who died in March of this year, bequeathed three million dollars to S.U. to help build an endowment fund. An announcement of the donation was made at a special all-school convocation.

THE ALBERS FAMILY owned Albers Brother's Milling Company. The company produced flour, oatmeal, poultry and cattle feed. In 1935, the company merged with Carnation but retained the name of Albers.

The late George Albers founded the company with four of his brothers. Branches were located "up and down the coast and as far east as Salt Lake City", Ms. Albers said.

Albers came to Seattle at the time of the Alaska gold rush "intending to go up and do some grubstaking, but he didn't make it," Ms. Albers added.

"ALL HIS LIFE, though, he was trying to get someone to go to Alaska and grubstake for him."

Albers died in 1937. Ms. Albers was also named a new regent last week. She worked as president of the S.U. Guild in 1960-61. A graduate of San Francisco College for Women, Ms. Albers is active in many civic and charitable organizations, including the Junior League of Seattle.

AN ONLY CHILD, she and her mother traveled a great deal.

"We've been on all the continents now," she said.

Seven candidates recommended; decision delayed till 1-2 weeks?

by Sue hill

The selection committee has handed the Athletic Board a list of seven candidates to succeed Bucky Buckwalter as head basketball coach, but the announcement of the new coach will probably not come until at least one week and possibly two.

"I question whether we can get all the Board members together this week to interview all the candidates," Ed O'Brien, S.U. athletic director, said yesterday.

THE SELECTION committee met last Friday and Saturday to screen through the dozens of candidates that had applied for the open position.

"We came up with less than ten names. It is now in the Athletic Board's hands," O'Brien noted.

A high administrative source said yesterday that the field was definitely narrowed down to seven candidates.

IF THE BOARD can not meet and come to a decision by the end of this week, matters will be delayed until at least next Wednesday, O'Brien and Fr. Timothy Cronin, S.J., faculty athletic representative, will be in California attending the annual West Coast Athletic Conference meeting for all athletic directors and faculty reps.

"We would not convene again then until probably Wednesday or Thursday of next week," O'Brien commented.

O'Brien added that the Board will meet probably today for a preliminary meeting to go over the ground rules and get the schedules of each of the Board members as to when they can meet.

THOSE NAMES most likely up for consideration are Bernie Simpson, former assistant coach at S.U., Jack Schalow, at Louisiana State and former S.U. freshman coach and Rod Thorn, former assistant coach of the Seattle SuperSonics. Probably under consideration also are Paul Harney, assistant coach at University of Puget Sound and former Chieftain basketball player, and Dean Nichol森, head coach at Central Washington State College.

Elgin Baylor dismisses rumor that he's applied

by Sue hill

Elgin Baylor dismissed all rumors that he had been contacted or had applied for the position as the new basketball coach.

"I HAVE not been contacted for the coaching job but I would have been flattered and honored had I been," Baylor said yesterday when contacted by telephone in Los Angeles, Calif.

The former Chieftain and Los Angeles super-star said, "I would not have taken it anyhow as I have other interests down here that I am involved in."

Baylor added that he had conferred with Ed O'Brien, athletic director, but not about his applying for the job.

"We talked about the job and the candidates that he (O'Brien) has received word from, but not about me taking the job."

BAYLOR added: "I guess that the assistant coach there (Bernie Simpson) and Jim Harney (from UPS) are some of the applicants."

Not comparing the two, Baylor remarked, "I more or less recommended Harney."

The rumor of Baylor's application has been going around since Buckwalter resigned.

Crew team finishes third in LaFromboise Cup Regatta

by Ed Hayduk

The crew team placed third in the LaFromboise Cup Regatta, the championship of small schools in the Pacific Northwest, held Saturday on Lake Washington.

The Chieftain shell finished in 6:35.4, behind unbeaten Western Washington, 6:19, and Pacific Lutheran, 6:25.4. The University of Puget Sound finished fourth with a time of 6:40.2.

IN THE JUNIOR eights race earlier in the day, the Chieftain junior varsity finished third behind two shells from the University of Washington. The JV team finished the 2,000 meter course in 6:32.5, beating the varsity's time by almost three seconds.

The crew team is currently trying to raise funds to attend the Western Sprint Regatta this weekend in Long Beach, California. Last year the S.U. finished second in the lightweight division, beating such teams as Oregon State and UCLA.

are: coxswain Mitch Ikeda, Dave Chandler, Mark Pembroke, Frank Pontarolo, John Ruhl, Barry Leahy, Gordon Alexander, Rich Otto and Jim Larson.

Chiefs came across in the seventh inning. Bob Polaski led off the inning with a double. He went to third on an error, and scored on John Varga's sacrifice fly.

THE WIN MOVED the Chief's record up to 22-11, a record which generally pleased coach Ed O'Brien.

"Despite all our injuries and all the bad weather, I feel the season was quite successful," O'Brien said.

Many of those injuries came to key men such as Polaski and Varga.

"WE PROBABLY would have had a better record if we didn't have to move our infield all around because of all the injuries," added O'Brien.

O'Brien also said that first baseman Darrell Prentice had a very solid year and freshman pitcher Arnie Kvarnberg was a pleasant surprise. He added that Polaski had a super year, getting 40 bases on balls.

As to next year O'Brien said he will need a couple of pitchers, a shortstop to replace Polaski and a center-fielder.

"These replacements could come from this year's team but we will be looking around for good high school or junior college replacements," concluded O'Brien.

GOLF

A fourth place finish in the British Columbia Invitational Golf Tournament in Vancouver, B.C. rounded out the Chieftains 1972 campaign.

The S.U. six went into last week's tournament as defending champions, but came out this year toward the bottom in both the team and individual scoring.

OVERALL for the year the team swept up the West Coast Athletic crown in both the team and individual honors with the team outscoring all other conference teams behind George Jonson's rounds of 76-75, which gave him the individual award.

The team lost all three dual matches, two against cross-town rival University of Washington and one against Bellevue Community College.

Among the four tournaments the squad participated in they took a third, fourth, sixth along with the first place finish in the WCAC tourney.

Five out of the six starting players will be back again next year: George Jonson, Max Norgart, Greg Segai, Keith Williams and Pete Yagi.

TENNIS

The S.U. tennis team gained a split in matches against two Pacific Coast teams by beating the University of Oregon last Friday and losing Saturday to Oregon State.

The Chieftains beat Oregon 5-4, with Mike Prineas, Warren Farmer, Marc Soriano and Dave Merrill, all winning their single matches.

PRINEAS, THE team's number one ranked player, beat Jumbo Fernando, 7-5, 6-4; Farmer defeated Rick Wilson, 6-4, 7-5; Soriano beat Brad Look, 6-2, 6-0, and Merrill triumphed over Rod Bradshaw, 7-5, 2-6, 6-1.

THE CHIEF'S double team of Prineas and Farmer defeated Fernando and Look, 7-6, 6-3.

Reaction on Wallace shooting ranges from cynicism to dismay

Campus student reaction to the shooting of presidential candidate George Wallace in Maryland yesterday ranged from cynicism to dismay at the use of violence.

The Spectator gathered opinion from a random sample of about 20 students on campus late yesterday afternoon.

"HE'S A ROTTEN person," said one woman near the Chieftain. "You can't justify taking a life but I think he got what he deserved."

Another woman in that vicinity echoed her view, "He's a racist and he got what he deserved," she said.

A student walking past the bookstore, said "My personal reaction is pretty cynical. I'm surprised it took this long, considering his political views."

"MY INITIAL thought was that it was tragic," said his companion. "Aside from being cynical it's tragic for someone to try to run for office and be subject to the possibility of being shot. It reflects more on our community than on Wallace."

"I didn't feel bad like I did when Kennedy was shot," said one upperclassman. "I didn't really care—I was curious about when and where (it happened) but I really have no feelings one way or the other."

One Republican senior in the Xavier lounge looked at the matter from a distance.

"I'm not too emotionally involved," he said, I'm curious to see how the press and political leaders are going to react. The next time they record "Abraham, Martin, and John"—will they include George?"

"HE'S BEEN generally cast as a villain and I think that's mostly deserved though he sometimes doesn't get a fair break. I'll be interested to see how the opinion makers manage to deplore this—and deplore Wallace too."

"It would be a much less interesting Democratic convention without Wallace," he added.

Several students noted that they did not agree with Wallace but were saddened at the use of violence. "Shooting is no way to handle it," "people have no right to attempt murder" and "it's a sign of how barbaric our country is that you can't run for office without being shot" were some responses.

A STUDENT near the Chieftain said "It's a sad state to have acts of violence occur in two presidential elections. They've been all Democrats," he mused.

"It's really too bad that Wallace is in a position of such power that anyone feels he has to be shot," said one teacher. "Both things are a comment on the state of our nation."

Speaking awards

S. U. engineers rack up honors

Several S.U. engineering students have been winning speaking awards recently.

April 24, the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers held a paper contest at S.U. Students from S.U. and the University of Washington competed separately however.

S.U. WINNERS included Tony Woods, senior, Terje Lund, freshman, and Jim Ozanne, sophomore. Winners were awarded cash prizes.

April 28-29, a delegation of 11 students attended the annual ASCE Pacific Northwest Conference in Moscow, Idaho. Woods delivered his talk on "An Empirical Observation into the Formation of Von-Karman Vortex Streets" and managed to capture second place.

The conference is hosted by a different school each year. Next spring, S.U. will host the regional event.

LAST WEEK, the Seattle ASCE chapter held a Student Night honoring S.U. and U.W. student chapters.

Woods and Norm Davis, U.W. paper contest winner, met each other in an oral presentation. Woods defeated Davis to become the undisputed top local speaker.

Shari Marie Gruver, S.U. junior, received two awards, including a cash scholarship, from the professional chapter.

IN ADDITION, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers have been working on papers of their own.

May 4-5, the S.U. chapter hosted the regional paper contest. Kenneth A. Roe, national ASME president, was a special guest on campus.

Scott M. O'Neil, senior, placed fifth in the competition.

IN APRIL, S.U. ASME competed with the U.W. in Bellevue. U.W. students captured first and third places but Kamal Hamed, senior, placed second with a talk on anti-skid braking systems.
